Lemon Grove's Year in Review

Incorporation is Top Story in Year Review

A movement to place a new bid for Lemon Grove cityhood on the June 1976 ballot developed and dominated local news throughout the past year. Following is a review of this and other newsmaking items reported by this newspaper during the past year.

As 1975 got under way, Lemon Grove residents were sorrowing for two long-time residents who died just as the old year was passing.

Dead were Anthony "Tony" Sonka, 89, who died just before Christmas and Mrs. Jessie Churchill, 99½, who died on Christmas day.

The Lemon Grove School District election was in the offing and candidates filed for two posts. Incumbents were Henry Reinicke, Jr. and Jim Dorman. Fred Anderson, operator of the Crisis Cottage, was a last minute entry. Dorman and Anderson won the race in March.

Supervisor Dick Brown, District 2, was elected president of the County Board of Supervisors.

Cocaine valued at $150,000 was seized by the San Diego Narcotics Task Force during a raid in Lemon Grove at 7335 Central ave.

H. A. Thomas, 73, editor of the Spring Valley Bulletin for 20 years died January 20 after a lingering illness.

Jackie Lynn Taylor, a former member of early movie comedies, "Little Rascals", was named Marshal of Old Time Days parade.

The Lemon Grove Chamber of Commerce opposes a new County sign ordinance.

February

A man robbed the Tigress, a massage parlor at 7344 Broadway, in Lemon Grove of $358.

William H. West, Lemon Grove's oldest resident, marked his 100th birthday on February 1. He lives with stepson Henry Ecklers at 8452 Mt. Vernon st.

Larry Freeman, east county representative for the Union-Tribune died.

Roy Close, famed square dancer, died.

Al Couppee, sports personality, mc'd the L.G. CoC annual Old Time Days Party.

March

Kiwanis Club held its annual Pancake Day breakfast.

A rainstorm, bringing 4.85 inches, caused minor flooding.

Five local men were charged with pandering by the sheriff's prostitute squad.

Juanita Close, 83, followed her husband, Roy, in death by one month.

April

Grossmont Union High School District Superintendent Austin Sellery turns in his resignation following a stormy seven-years reign.

Bob Guest, manager of Crocker National Bank was elected president of the L.G. CoC.

Leonard Klee was elected president of the L.G. School District school board; John Linn, vice president; Warren Buckner, clerk.

Old Time Days Parade draws record 30,000 crowd.

Helix Water Sets Date for Storage Project Hearing

Helix Water District Board of Directors has set 10 a.m. Wednesday, January 21, as the time for a public hearing on its draft environmental impact report for reconstruction of the reservoir at Harry Griffen Park. The meeting will be held in the District's business office Board Room, 8111 University ave., La Mesa.

Formerly known as Grossmont Reservoir, the water storage facility must be reconstructed to protect water quality. The proposed project is a completely enclosed concrete reservoir on the west side of the existing open reservoir site.

Storage capacity in the plans is reduced from 115 million gallons to 30 million gallons. New dimensions are 470 feet long, 470 feet wide and 23 feet deep.

Tennis Courts on Top

Installation of provision for approximately 18 lighted tennis courts would be made on the roof. A clubhouse and parking space would be required.

Additional recreational facilities may be provided on the 45-acre Harry Griffen Park site, but these are not part of the proposed project, a spokesman said.

Copies of the Environmental impact report are available for inspection at the Helix Water District business office and at the La Mesa Library.

A 30-day review period, during which written comments can be submitted for inclusion in the final report, ends January 17.

The report contains an analysis of 12 possible alternative procedures, including doing nothing at all at the site.

The project would be financed by the sale of revenue bonds authorized by District voters in November 1974.

Mystery of the Missing Money

There's a money mystery at the Casa de Oro 1-Hour Martinizing Cleaners at 9902 Campo rd.

Money has been disappearing in $25-$50 dabs for the past couple of weeks. So far there are no suspects.

To date, says Larry Leahy, the proprietor, more than $300 has leaked away.

Sheriff's deputies could find no evidence of break-in, they reported.

The latest loss was reported Sunday morning.

$1,500 in Jewelry Is Burglar's Loot

Jewelry in the form of silver and turquoise rings worth $1,200-$1,500 were stolen from the home of Stephen Lee Isley, at 9347 Lamar st. in Spring Valley, he reported to Sheriff's men Sunday evening.

Burglars broke a window and went through the house while he was away taking the box of rings and leaving other valuables.

Isley is a jeweler by profession.

RR Tells City To 'Keep Off'

The refusal of San Diego Arizona Eastern Railway to allow City inspection of its Imperial ave. overpass as a prelude to widening of Imperial ave. caused the City Council this week to seek a hearing before the Public Utilities Commission.

Reconstruction of the railroad bridge is necessary to widen Imperial. Efforts by the City and the railroad to reach an agreement over who should pay a portion of the maintenance costs of the reconstructed bridge have deadlocked after the City was refused permission to inspect railroad company maintenance records or the bridge forcing a Public Utilities Commission hearing.

Total costs for the project are expected to be $1.17 million, with $540,000 of that paid for by the State Grade Separation Fund.

Synthesis of a Burglary

Police Records Show Guilt; D.A.-Courts Show Innocence

By Max Goodwin

Crime continues to grow in San Diego. (Related editorial on Page 1)

Why shouldn't it? Penalties are often so relaxed that citizens may often turn to crime with a feeling of impunity.

As silly as it first appears, sooner or later environment protection officers will concern themselves with the problem. Life, limb and property are being endangered by criminal activity more than by other types of pollution. If laws against criminality were enforced with the same vigor as those devised by environmental impact organizations, crime could be quelled.

No matter who becomes a force in reducing crime, it should start at the district attorney-court level. Prosecutors who want a reduced charge to make their job easier and courts making minimum penalty judgements to clear their calendars more quickly, contribute to sorry state of affairs.

Those who fear the burgeoning crime rate — a matter which is becoming a life or death concern for more and more innocent victims — may be interested in this report taken from the records by this writer the other day. Laconic police reports have been juggled slightly to give better sequence.

Friday evening 9 p.m.

Emmett Herman Eigner, 6794 Central ave., Lemon Grove returned from dinner with a friend and was distressed to find his home had been burglarized. A small safe and a .38 cal. Bernadelli pistol were among the loot. Eigner called the Sheriff's Lemon Grove office and reported the loss. He named a suspect.

Friday Evening 11 p.m.

A group of five teen-age youngsters were watching television and discussing means of raising some money. Each needed money for a different purpose. One suggested burglarizing a cafe in Dulzura with a gun that had been acquired a couple of hours earlier. The gun was a .38 cal. Bernadelli.

Saturday 3 a.m.

Several residents residing in the Folkstone ave. area of Spring Valley reported to the Sheriff's Lemon Grove Office that a noise which sounded like gun shots had been heard minutes before.

Saturday 3:30 a.m.

A youth reported that a man had fired shots at him and took his car at gunpoint after chasing him from the mountains to Spring Valley.

Saturday 3:45 a.m.

Robert Gene Yost reported to the L.G. Sheriff's Office that his cafe in Duzura had been burglarized and that he had followed the suspects to Spring Valley.

Saturday 4 a.m.

Checkout of the stolen car report showed that the person reporting the theft was not the registered owner. The victim later admitted that he had not transferred the certificate of ownership. He also said that four passengers had been with him when the theft took place.

Saturday 8 a.m.

Cafe owner Yost completing his report to officers, said that the rear door of his Dulzura cafe had been forced after burglars tried to cut open a door with a pocket knife. He was attracted to the rear when he saw lights not usually left on. He had come to the cafe to pick up the day's receipts, he said. As he drove away to report the at-

Applicants should contact the secretary at 466-8624 or 462-2462 for an appointment.

New semester starts in February.

'At Seventeen' Makes Janis Ian Gold-Record Performer—At 24

I learned the truth at seventeen
That love was meant for beauty queens
And high school girls with clear skinned smiles
Who married young and then retired . . .

So begins Janis Ian's current song hit which spells out some ethereal impressions of a difficult age for a young woman in America and, at the same time, re-establishes the singer-songwriter's prominence in the American record industry after a seven year leave.

As in international trade, gold acquisition is the arbiter of success in the record industry. Ms. Ian., who rocked the music world in 1967 with what was then a controversial composition "Society's Child," has spent a decade writing and recording, but not until September 1975 did she strike gold in the form of an RIAA certified million-selling album entitled "Between the Lines."

"Most people think that 'Society's Child' was a number one record, but they're wrong," says the diffident Ms. Ian. "Because of the nature of the song — dealing with a racially intermixed couple— the airplay was split due to stations' banning of it. It actually only reached, I think, No. 12 position on national charts."

"Between the Lines" is a special achievement for Janis, not solely because it is her first No. 1 album in a lengthy career, but that "at 24 years old I've had a lot of living experience—some of it difficult."

She was a worldwide recording star at age 14. "Now I feel capable of dealing with almost anything involving my personal and artistic life. It's all in the album. It's the culmination of ten years of sweat and banging on doors."

"At Seventeen" is the hit single from the album and this song in particular has had a profound effect on audiences across the country, and it provides the listener with some insight into the elusive Janis Ian.

She is a chronicler of the small moments in life that are consumed and forgotten in the passage of time. Her songs often remind us all of events we would rather forget, but sometimes are best to remember because they truly happened.

Many Write Letters

"I've received many letters concerning 'At Seventeen.' A great many have come from tenagers who were dramatically moved by the song. And surprisingly, women in their forties have written and commented either about how deeply affected they were by their own recollections of being 17 or by what their daughters are going through now. Reactions like these from women much older than myself kind of caught me off-guard at first because I didn't expect it. It feels good to reach outside of the normal young audience and touch older women as well."

Janis was born in the Bronx, New York, April 7, 1951 and subsequently moved at the age of six months to a more rural environment known as Farmingdale, New Jersey. Janis' father is a music teacher and composer and her mother is a fundraiser for a Manhattan college. She was obviously intended for a musical career by her parents who introduced her to classical piano at age three and one-half. She did most of the normal things children do, and promptly avowed a sincere hatred for school by the time she entered the first grade.

In 1963 Janis wrote her first song, "Hair of Spun Gold," and had begun participating in the rich folk movement already developing in New York's Greenwich Village. By the time seventh grade was in session she was spending every weekend playing hootenannies in the village and writing songs at night instead of doing homework.

In 1966 Janis met Shadow Morton, who produced her rendition of "Society's Child," and who then spent the next six months trying to get someone to release it. It was finally released late summer 1966, re-released fall 1966 and officially became a hit record in May 1967 after Janis appeared on a Leonard Bernstein television special. It was Bernstein who first recognized Janis' musical genius and acknowledged it to millions of television viewers.

"Bernstein was the begining, but I was incapable of dealing with all that accompanied success and its effects. Well, I found out quickly enough."

By the end of 1967 Janis had met and fallen in love with a photographer and at the ripe age of 17, in 1968, she quit the record business.

In 1973 she decided to try again. She recorded an album titled "Stars" which was released in 1974. With the release of this album she began working in clubs again.

"It was difficult to get back on stage again after such a long absence, and I had changed so much in the time that had elapsed since my last concert," explained Ms. Ian. "I was a different person walking out on stage saying to an audience 'Hi, I'm Janis Ian.' And it took a while for the audience to realize that."

She is now finishing a new album for The Rainbow Collection on Columbia Records which will be out about January.

Everything that has happened to Janis has provided more material for her songs and added to the luster of the gold album that is now filling a prominent space on her apartment wall next to the Steinway grand piano and her favorite plant. This particular hunk of gold means more to her than just wealth or fame; it's a symbol of coming of age in the seventies for Janis Ian.

Texas Chorus In Concert at Christ Church

Lemon Grove residents have an opportunity to enjoy the magic of 50 young voices at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday when the Lubbock Christian College A Cappella Chorus presents an hour long concert of sacred music in the Church of Christ auditorium.

The program features hymns, spirituals and special concert numbers, highlighted by a "sermon in song," a tradition of the Texas college chorus.

Two smaller groups drawn from the chorus, a men's quartet and a women's sextet, will also perform.

Flood Control, VdO Plan, Kidnapping Top SV News

Spring Valley residents were engaged in a struggle to relieve flood control restrictions on property improvements and ironing out a draft for an official county development plan. While these two stories turned up most frequently, the top attention getter was the August kidnapping of a seven year old Mt. Helix girl, an ordeal which dominated county news for six days.

A monthly run-down of these and other newsmakers:

The year opens with sad news that veteran newsman Howard A. Thomas, retired editor of the SPRING VALLEY BULLETIN for over 20 years, passed away. He and his wife Sadie had recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

New Law Halts State Tax 'Loan'

Interest charges are doubled after today for California employers who are late in making tax payments to the state, the Department of Benefit Payments said.

A new law which goes into effect today hikes the interest rate on late payments from one-half to a full one per cent a month.

Raising interest to an annual rate of 12 per cent eliminates the temptation to delay making tax payments and instead use the money as a kind of loan from the state.

New Twist to Home Burglary Seen in Area

Burglars in the area are discovering a new twist to home thefts — the twist of a door knob.. Using a simple set of vice grips or a similar device, burglars can wrench off an ordinary door lock and gain access to the unguarded home.

Using a bolt-type key lock on doors is a much safer bet, law enforcement officials say.

Three examples of door twisters striking in the area:

A burglar twisted the knob off the door Friday night December 19 at the apartment occupied by Linda Jean McIntyre at 7127 London lane, Lemon Grove

Missing was a turntable, 8-track tape deck and $70 in cash.

Altogether, her loss was $220.

A television set, stereo units and tapes were taken from the residence of William J. Clark, Jr., of 7057 Russian lane, Lemon Grove, Sunday, December 21.

The thief twisted off the knob with vice grips, sheriff's deputies reported.

The amount of his loss was not reported.

While Richard Robert Weaver was away from his residence at 7131 London lane, Lemon Grove, the knob was twisted from the front door and thieves took items worth $400.

A color tv and stereo equipment were missing. Vice grips were used to twist the knob.

Anyone Can Tryout for College's 'Birdie'

Southwestern College is holding open auditions for its forthcoming musical "Bye Bye Birdie". Tryouts are held Monday through Wednesday at 7 p.m. in Mayan Hall on the campus located at 900 Otay Lakes rd., Chula Vista.

Performances are scheduled for March.

Auditions consist of readings, singing and dancing. Each performer should bring his own music and be prepared to sing a song of his choice. An accompanist will be available.

Shredder to Help Recycle Yule Trees at College Grove

The Christmas season doesn't necessarily have to end with the tossing out of the family Christmas tree. San Diego tree de-trimmers are invited to go on giving by disposing their tree at one of several recycling sites on Saturday, January 3.

A program tagged "Give Earth a Gift", sponsored jointly by the San Diego Ecology Centre and the War Against Litter Committee, shreds used Christmas trees from the public and unsold Christmas trees from dealers into small chips. The chips may be used as garden or planter mulch, ground cover or for other organic purposes.

The important resource recovery is just one reason for the program, offered for free. Despite anti-litter statutes, many used trees end up on beaches, in canyons and at other undesirable places.

"Give Earth a Gift" is in its fourth year, with a goal of recycling 25,000 trees in the county.

The nearest shredder to Lemon Grove-Spring Valley residents will be at the northeast corner of College Grove Shopping center from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., January 3 only.

"We're giving away the mulch on the same day," said Irene Schinhofen, co-coordinator of the project. Tree toters are invited to bring their own containers and take whatever quantity of mulch they can use.

Trees brought for shredding must be cleaned of tinsel, flock and nails, she said.

Certification Of Taxation New at UCSD

Tax practitioners and others interested in the field of taxation, are eligible for enrollment in a new program at UC San Diego Extension. A basic background in accounting is prerequisite to a sequence of ten courses leading to certification in taxation.

Courses include five from a core group and five electives. Subjects range from specific areas of federal and state taxation and taxes affecting corporations and partnerships, through electives in law, finance, economics and mangement.

The course plan begins in May.

Applicants should telephone the University Extension office at 452-3434 or write: Office of Certificate Programs, Q-014, UC San Diego Extension, La Jolla, CA 92093. A brochure is mailed on request.

Fossils on Exhibit At History Museum

The Natural History Museum opened a fossil fish exhibit last week.

The specimens, which represent some of the best preserved fossil fishes ever found, were discovered in sediments of ancient fresh water lakes that once covered some 16,000 square miles of southwest Wyoming, according to museum spokesmen.

Fossil insects and plants are included among the specimens.

The exhibit will continue through Feb. 15 and may be seen daily from 10 to 4:30 in the Sefton Hall of Shore Ecology on the lower level.

The Alaskan pipeline is more than half completed.

Water Colors to be Shown

"Dilly Dauber" artist Elaine Harvey will exhibit water colors January 14 at Sears Community Room in El Cajon starting at 7 p.m.

Globe Trotters Record 100 Per Cent Since 1971

Many sports teams would be satisfied to win 75 or 80 percent of their games but the Harlem Globetrotters have done beter than that in recent years.

Since the start of the 1971-72 season, they have won 100 percent of their games each year and chances are good they will be unbeaten for 1975-76 when they invade the San Diego Sports Arena January 25 for games at 2 and 7 p.m.

The 1971-72 season saw the Trotters post a 398-0 slate. The next season they had their best record ever — 435 wins and no losses. During the 1973-74 campaign the famous clowns of the basketball court compiled a 408-0 record and last season they were 430-0.

The Trotters, led by player-coach Meadowlark Lemon, are in their 50th year. They have come far since playing their first game at Hinckley, Ill., before a few hundred fans and receiving the grand sum of $75. Since then they have performed in 94 countries and on six continents.

An old-timer with the Trotter organization recalls the time the Trotters played in the loft of a large barn. On another occasion they played in a drained swimming pool in Helena, Mont. When they visited Port Washington, Wis., once, the Trotters saw action in a game in a gym on the second floor of a commercial building.

The Trotters will meet the New Jersey Reds, coached by Red Klotz, in their San Diego visits. Tickets can be purchased at all Bill Gamble's Stores, all Montgomery Ward stores, all arena agencies and at the Sports Arena box office. Prices are $4.50, $5.50 and $6.50.

The Sigma Delta Chi sponsors the Trotters' invasion of San Diego each year, proceeds going to the organization's scholarship fund.

'Aztec Uprising . . . No Passing Fancy'

New Football Book Certain to Please Fans

By Max Goodwin

There's a fine aid for football buffs who must nervously hunt suitable reading material to fill the time void between the Super Bowl and training camp.

It's an engaging book about the San Diego Aztecs titled "Aztec Uprising . . . No Passing Fancy," written by Steve Barone with a foreword by Don Coryell.

"Uprising" is a story whose time had come. The Aztecs had made the wire service Top 10 ratings during the season. Don Coryell, coach around whom much of the story is woven had become an outstanding pro coach who led his St. Louis Cardinals into a competitive spot for the NFL playoffs only to lose to the Los Angeles Rams December 28 by a 35-24 score.

"Aztec" is contemporary nostalgia; a story that puts people and records in perspective without bogging the reader down with too many statistics. It's as easy reading as your newspaper sports page. And indeed it should be; it was written by four Union-Tribune people using the phony name of Steve Barone. The name, it should be noted, is the only thing phony about "Aztec". The authors are Joe Stein, Larry Lusitana, Walt Miller and Diane Clark.

High Respectibility

It tells, without becoming maudlin, of the energy spent by San Diego State University, administration, the Aztec Club and the Aztec coach staff to lift the football operation to its present level of respectibility.

It also brings into perspective the fine qualities of present head coach Claude Gilbert who has not been embarrassed as a successor to Coryell.

Throughout the book are sprinkled names of Aztec gridders who are now listed as star performers with professional teams.

"Aztec Uprising", published by Joyce Press, sells for $7.95 and is available at B. Dalton, Bookseller, in Fashion Valley.

It is a book any football fan will enjoy and want to keep because it gentrates in the reader a strong sense of pride in the football team of his hometown college.

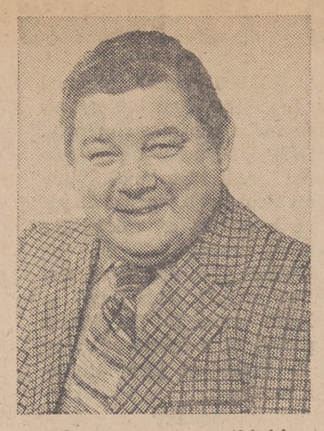
SDG&E SAN DIEGO GAS & ELECTRIC COMPANY

TAKE FIVE



By John E. Wirges

Son of a gun. Just a few weeks ago we were thinking of gettin' together a bunch of the guys for a fishing trip to celebrate the end of summer and here it is, the end of the year already. What ever happened to October and November?

While we're at it, what ever happened to 1975? It only lasted a few weeks, if you don't count the baseball season.

Let's see, there was the Rose Bowl, the Sugar Bowl and the Orange Bowl to start the year, then a few weeks later the football season ended with the Super Bowl, if you don't count the Pro Bowl which came a week later.

Then it was spring training, the start of the Padres dramatic climb out of the cellar, Memorial Day, July 4th, Labor Day, Randy Jones wins his 20th game day, The Sails sink, the Chargers stink and the Mariners overcome all odds and skate into their second season with the blessing of Peter Graham, who dresses their show in plexiglas.

And that's it. The entire year. You can buff it up a bit if you want to add the Aztecs, but the way San Diego State finished, it might be more kindly to forget them all together. At least for '75.

And here it is, time to make a fresh start. A new beginning. Another chance. It's a bicentennial year and we even get a shot at starting a new century for our country.

That's pretty powerful medicine, but the way things are going for our little corner of the world, we need all the help we can muster up.

Would you believe the brightest spot on the ol' sports calendar comes up "Padres."

Add the speed and power of Willie Davis in center field, a year's experience to Dave Winfield and a return to his .300 hittin' form and steady work in left field for Johnny Grubb and the Padres just might have the best outfield in the majors.

Put Doug Rader on third, where he'll likely win another "golden glove," station Mike Ivie at first, a spot to which he was "elected" as the best rookie around last year, pencil in Tito Fuentes at second and let the battle at short stir the dust to jell a truly impressive infield.

Randy Jones heads a pitching staff that is blessed with potential, and a year's seasoning. Brent Strom is about due for an injury-free year, Dave Freisleben showed everything save maturity which he hopefully picked up last year and Dan Spillner mixed flashes of brilliance with some of the worst first innings in the game. A year's growth might have done a world of good toward some first inning settlement.

Rich Folkers pitched one hellovalot better than his 6-11 record and if they get any kind of rest, the relief corps headed by Bill Greif, Danny Frisella and Dave Tomlin ought to give the Padres bonafide pennant contender level stoppers.

There are always areas that could be improved. Everybody wants another starter capable of winning 15-20 games, another reliever with a rubber arm, a good screwball, moving fastball and a hard-to-detect spitter, along with left and right bench strength, with good speed, high averages and power.

The Padres lack depth behind the plate, an area that could be their only major waekness. Freddy Kendall tells you he wants to play everyday, but he loses strength as the season goes along and while he hits well in the early going, he trails off in the dog days of summer. He finished last campaign down around .200 and that's an even 100 points below where he could hit if he got proper rest and you can believe what he says.

The tradin' season ain't finished yet, and you can bet that any strong armed receiver worthy of his beans and bacon will get a mighty good lookin' over by Padre scouts between here and the closin' of the Yuma training camp.

Buzzie's Bunch got out of the cellar last year and with push and a shove here and there, a spitter in the right spot and a little bit of luck, they could be knocking on that pennant door when the end of August slips past us.

Even with New Year's type football flooding out of the TV in living color, I can hardly wait for spring training to begin. Happy New Year.

Pool is $160,000 For TJ Race Fans

TIJUANA — A lucky player of Caliente's 5-10 contest could start the New Year out richer by more than $160,000 should he correctly select six winners in the handcapping program Saturday.

The reserve jackpot in the 5-10 has climbed to $114,607 and would be added to the regular pool should a lone ticket holder make six correct selections between the fifth and tenth races. With interest in the contest running high, the 5-10 pools have been reaching $120,000 and over in recent weeks and a record payoff is in the making for this Saturday.

Ernest F. Martin of Pomona holds the current high payoff at Caliente. He collected $126,612 last July on a day dominated by longshots.

If there is no single winner sweeping the card on Saturday, one-half of the reserve jackpot will be placed in the regular pool on Sunday to be distributed to the winners that afternoon.

First post time Saturday is noon with 11 races scheduled.

Dave Hill Early Signer for AWSDO

Dave Hill headed a list of 12 professionals on the first commitment list received for the Andy Williams San Diego Open golf tournament to be played Feb. 11-15 at Torrey Pines golf course.

Hill, Joe Inman, Mike Wynn, Jim Masserio and Danny Edwards are all exempt from qualifying.

The others must qualify on Feb. 9 at Whispering Palms or Lomas Santa Fe Country Clubs unless they make the cut at the Bob Hope Classic the week before the AWSDO, win a prior 1976 PGA tour event, or meet other exemption criteria.

They are Joe Porter, Charlie and Curtis Sifford, Tim Collins, Bob Risch, Bob Eastwood and Bill Rogers.

Hill, 38, has been ranked in the top 60 in earnings the past 16 years and has 12 tour wins, his last the 1975 Sahara. He is 13th on the all-time money list with $922,233.87 in earnings from 1959 through 1975.

Inman and Wynn are 41 and 42 on the 1975 money list. Inman, in only his second year, was also exempt in 1974. Wynn made the exempt list for the first time in 1975, although he has been on tour since 1970.

Masserio and Edwards are exempt because they were among the top 25 in the last AWSDO. Masserio tied for 16th and Edwards for 21st.

Injured Mariners Healing; Road Trip Ends January 15

Many are those who feel that events, good and bad, come in cycles. At the moment, San Diego Mariner coach Ron Ingram is in a good cycle and he's taking everything he can while it lasts.

The WHA Mariners are riding a four-game win streak, their longest of the season, and have won six of their last seven outings including the first of a nine-game, 17-day road swing.

San Diego is in second place in WHA's Western Division despite a raft of injuries and now Ingram can even find a ray of hope in the latter area with the announcement that center-winger Brian Morenz and defenseman Bob Wall have begun skating following lengthy layoffs.

Morenz has been off since October 16 following surgery on his right knee for ligament damage while Wall has missed nine games since breaking a toe December 11.

Ahead of 1974

San Diego's progress through the first half of 1975-76 WHA activity is a shade ahead of last year's pace that saw the team capture nine wins and a tie in its last 11 games for a second place finish.

The team stands at 16 wins, 14 losses and four ties for 36 points compared to 15-17-1 and 31 points in 1974-75. San Diego is battling Minnesota for second place, a couple of jumps behind front-running Houston.

Statistically, the team is becoming more consistent with each game and shows a goals by period reading of 41-47-41 while its opponents are scoring at a 25-44-37 clip. In shots on goal by periods the Mariners are 364-375-376 while the opposition is 321-378-321.

119,981 Fans

The Mariners have drawn 119,981 fans through 21 home dates for an average of 5,713. This rates ahead of last year's figures of 105,536 and a 5,026 average.

Individually, center Andre Lacroix is the team's most productive scorer with 46 points while second year center Ray Adduono is next at 40, left winger Gene Peacosh is third at 36 and center Joe Noris next with 34. Peacosh leads the club with 19 goals while Lacroix and Adduono are tied at 31 assists.

San Diego is scheduled to meet New England two more times and has single games at Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Toronto, Cleveland and Quebec on the current road junket before returning home to host Minnesota, January 15.

Kroc and Colbert Win 'Most Memorable' Vote

The home run hitting feats of Nate Colbert and Padre owner Ray Kroc topped the list of vote-getters in the recent poll to name the Most Memorable Moment and Most Memorable Personality in San Diego Padre history.

Colbert's hitting spree against the Atlanta Braves on August 1, 1972 was voted the Most Memorable Moments by a narrow margin over Ray Kroc's purchase of the club just prior to the 1974 campaign. Colbert clubbed his way into the record book against the Braves that day by smacking five home runs, driving in 13 runs and amassing 22 total bases in a doubleheader in the Georgia capitol.

For Colbert, the home run total tied Stan Musial's record originally set on May 2, 1954 which ironically Nate saw as a youngster. Additionally, his total for RBI and total bases ranked as outright records.

Third place in the voting went to Randy Jones winning his 20th game against the Dodgers to become the club's first 20-game winner in history.

Kroc Wins

In the balloting for the Most Memorable Personality, owner Ray Kroc was the runaway winner over Randy Jones and Nate Colbert.

A national ballot featuring winners from each of the club's plus additional moments as selected by a special "blue-ribbon panel" will be distributed early next season. Also, the panel will compose a list of Most Memorable Personalities (using the various club winners as a base), Most Memorable All Star and Most Memorable World Series Moments for inclusion on the ballot. Results of the national ballot will be made public during the 1976 All Star Game festivities in Philadelphia next July.

National League

Top moments from the other clubs were: National League — Atlanta — Hank Aaron's 715th home run, Chicago — Ernie Banks' 500th home run, Cincinnati — Johnny Vader Meer's back-to-back no-hitters, Houston — opening of the Astrodome, Los Angeles — Sandy Koufax's perfect game, Montreal — Expos first major league game, New York — Mets win the 1969 World Series, Philadelphia — Jim Bunning's perfect game, Pittsburgh — Bill Mazeroski's ninth inning home run to win the 1960 World Series, St. Louis — Lou Brock's 105th stolen base and San Francisco — third-game playoff win over LA for the 1962 pennant.

American League

In the American League it was Baltimore — Brooks Robinson's great hitting and fielding in the 1970 World Series, Boston — Red Sox win 1967 pennant on last day of season, California — Nolan Ryan's fourth no-hitter, Chicago — White Sox win 1959 pennant, first in 40 years, Cleveland — Frank Robinson's debut as first black manager, Detroit — Mickey Lolich's third victory to win 1968 World Series for Tigers, Kansas City — Steve Busby's first no-hitter, Milwaukee — major league baseball returns in 1970, Minnesota — Harmon Killebrew's home run to beat Yankees and lead Twins on to 1965 pennant, New York — Don Larsen's perfect game in the World Series, Oakland — Catfish Hunter's perfect game and Texas — David Clyde, just out of high school at 18 years of age, wins major league debut before record Rangers crowd.

Rabies Clinics Scheduled Here

Dog owners can save money by bringing their pet to one of the 76 clinics in 57 different locations in the county in January for rabies vaccinations.

The clinics are sponsored by the S.D. County Veterinary Medical Assn. with the help of volunteer workers.

Some of the rules:

The fee is $2 — cash, no checks.

Dogs must be at least 4 months old.

Each dog must be on a leash and under control.

Vaccinations are good for 2½ years. For convenience, dog licenses may be purchased at some clinics after vaccination.

Area clinics and dates:

Lemon Grove, San Altos School, 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, January 13.

Spring Valley, CdO Fire Station, 7-9 p.m. Tuesday, January 20.

Info Service For Seniors

Senior citizens wanting to know what agencies are providing what services may now obtain that information through the Senior Information and Referral service (SIR) at 280-6120.

A system of documenting senior needs has been dveloped through a network of agencies cooperating with SIR according to Elsie Ammann, a spokesman for the Adult Protective Services said.

SID provides quick, free telephone service information to senior and others interested in seniors' problems, she said. It also directs elderly to appropriate organizations for direct help.

The senior information specialists are themselves 55 or older.

SIR's toll-free number is Zenith 7-6120.

A.A. Golf Tournament Draws 6 3rd Basemen

PALM SPRINGS — Six of the best third basemen in baseball, including National League batting champion Bill Madlock of the Chicago Cubs, will compete in the 10th annual American Airlines Golf Classic Jan. 30-Feb. 1 at the Canyon Hotel Racquet & Golf Club.

Tournament chairman Thomas J. Ross Jr. said Madlock, defending champion Sal Bando, Oakland As; Brooks Robinson, Baltimore Orioles; home-run king Mike Schmidt, Philadelphia Phillies; Craig Nettles, New York Yankees, and Buddy Bell, Cleveland Indians, will try to scoop up the $10,000 top prize in the 54-hole tournament.

One baseball star is paired with his football counterpart in this unique partner best ball event.

Robinson, the perennial Gold Glove winner for fielding excellence, has played in all nine Classics, while Madlock, who won the NL batting championship with a .354 average, and Nettles will be making their debut.

Schmidt, who led the major leagues in home runs in 1975 with 38, teamed with Steve Zabel, former Philadelphia Eagles linebacker, and finished second to Bando and Marv Hubbard, Oakland Raiders running back.

Daily ticket prices are $3 for adults and $1 for children under 16. Proceeds go to the United Way of The Desert.

H. Clement Wins Golden Mike Award

Hal Clement, sports editor of KGTV 10, won the Golden Mike Best Sportscast award for 1975.

The program he aired on September 25 was the basis for the award. On that day his teevee stories covered the legal problems in the American Basketball Assn.; the Chargers players voting on whether to support the NFL strike, and the opening day of training camp for the now defunct, San Diego Sails ABA team.

Crusaders Host Stags

Following a two-week break, the Pt. Loma College Crusaders will hit the hardwood again Saturday, when they host the Claremont-Harvey Mudd Stags in Golden Gymnasium at 8 p.m.

Last year the Crusaders split two games with the Stags to tally a series record of PLC 12, Claremont — Mudd 9.

LG Fire Report

Lemon Grove residents may have taken to heart the public service messages about Christmas fire hazards. Lemon Grove fire station reports were sparse through December and none of the Christmas time incidents were related to faulty wiring.

The first fire call since December 8 came in at 1:05 a.m. Christmas morning. Firemen were called to an apartment at 7425 Waite dr. to put out a burning coffee table. Probable cause was a burning cigarette. Damage was estimated at $300.

Other activity:

On the 28th: flooded carburetor ignites shortly after 10 a.m. at 7105 London ln. $10 loss.

28th: At 11:16 p.m., firemen called to corner of Osage and Jamacha to extinguish a trash fire.

29th: A grass fire at 12:22 p.m., 7200 block of Pearson st.; no loss.

29th: 6:15 p.m., flooded carburetor ignites in Food Basket parking lot. $15 loss.

Football Foundation Fetes 18 County Gridders Monday

The San Diego chapter of the National Football Foundation and Hall of Fame have selected their Scholar-Leader-Athletes for 1975 the organization announced.

Heading the list of 18 students representing each league within the San Diego section of the California Interscholastic Federation were Vic Mayer of Clairemont and Mark Malone of El Cajon Valley High schools.

These players and the other awardees maintained at least a 3.0 ("B") grade point average through high school and were all league selections. Winners also had to be outstanding citizens of the community. Seventeen others including Alex Funke, who carried a perfect 4.0 grade point average while playing center for Grossmont High, is among awardees.

Master of Ceremonies for the awards banquet that will be held January 5, at the Miramar Naval Air Station's Officers' Club is San Diego Union Sports Editor Jack Murphy.

Guest speaker is Steve Ritchie, a former star running back at the A.F. Academy in 1962 and 63, as well as the first Air Force pilot ace since the Korean War shooting down his fifth MIG-21 on his 339th combat mission in Vietnam.

A military and athletic standout, former Major Ritchie's decorations include the Air Force Cross, four Silver Stars, 10 Distinguished Flying Crosses and 24 Air Medals.

The dinner is open to the public and tickets $12 may be purchased by calling Allen Brown at 291-4720. A New York steak dinner is the menu.

Chinese Communication

There are about 5,000 characters in common usage in Chinese writing, but 1,500 are considered minimal for a person to be considered literate.

Toreros on Road For 3 City Trip

The USD basketball team will hit the road for four games against their stiffest competition yet. The Toreros will take their 6-2 record into the Golden Empire Tournament in Bakersfield then move on to Omaha to play Creighton U., and finish the trip in Sioux City against Briar Cliff College.

This is the second year USD has participated in the Golden Empire Tournament. Friday night the Toreros will play CS Fullerton in the 7 p.m. game, and at 9 p.m. Chapman College will play host CS Bakersfield in opening night action. All games will be played at Bakersfield Civic Auditorium.

Sharks Beat Flyers 12-3

The San Diego Sharks beat the Anaheim Flyers 12-3 Sunday in a Southwestern Hockey League game at the Mira Mesa House of Ice.

The game was marked by 7 fights and 23 penalties for a total of 65 minutes in the penalty box by both sides.

The leading scorers for the Sharks were Captain Shekat Sammy and former Gulls star Sandy Fitzpatrick with the hat trick of three apiece.

The Sharks are now 8-1-1 for the season.

Next Sunday, the Sharks host the West Covina Eagles. Game time at the Mira Mesa House of Ice will be 7:30 p.m.

Police Show Guilt, Courts Innocence

tempted burglary his headlights flashed on a car parked on the road near the cafe. The passengers in the car ducked when the lights hit them.

He followed them west on Highway 94 as the driver made loops and turns trying to lose him. One of the passengers held a gun in the rear window to show he was armed.

Yost said he heard popping sounds during the pursuit but assumed the noise to be firecrackers.

He told officers that he curbed the car at Harness and Eileen streets in Spring Valley. Four of the occupants fled. Yost said he opened the door of the car he had chased and took the keys. The remaining passenger then (suspect 1) pointed a gun a him and said, "Get the Hell out of here." Yost left.

Sunday 10 a.m.

The owner of the car who claimed his car was stolen became suspect 2 when detectives found the car to be the one from which Yost took the keys. In the car they found one unexpended .38 cal. bullet and a cartridge case of a fired .38 cal. bullet.

Monday 2 p.m.

Detectives went to the Spring Valley address of one of the Saturday passengers of suspect 2's car. There they found two other youths who were said to have been involved.

Under questioning they admitted having been in the car during the chase from Dulzura and became suspects 3 and 4. They implicated the driver (suspect 5) and admitted that "two or three shots" had been fired at the pursuing car. Those shots were the "firecrackers" Yost had heard. Suspect 3 was held and 4 was released.

Tuesday 10 a.m.

The fifth suspect called the L.G. Sheriff's Office to inquire about the charges that might be laid against him. He was told to come in for questioning. He didn't come in.

Tuesday 4 p.m.

Suspect 2 was picked up. He admitted having been in he Eigner house on Saturday. He told how the driver of the pursuit car had come at him with a hammer and how he had defended himself with a gun. He said when he pointed the gun at him (Yost) the man left.

Then he (Suspect 2) called the LGSO and reported the car stolen, he said.

Wednesday 5 p.m.

Officers picked up missing suspect (suspect 4) at a Spring Valley U-Totem store. "My mother kicked me out. I drove the car (to Dulzura). I was hungry and needed the money. I knew the cafe had a large jar of money — about $99 from pool games. We were in the cafe when the man (Yost) showed up so everybody jammed. Some of us hid in the bushes but they made too much noise. He heard us and chased us. I had it (the car) up to 115 miles an hour," suspect 5 said for the record.

When they got to Spring Valley and the pursuit car curbed theirs, Suspect 5 added, "I yelled at the guy with the gun not to shoot him but he shot at him anyhow. Then we all split."

Yost apparently thought he knew one of the group. While they were thrashing about in the bushes trying to get away, he yelled, "Is that you, Larry? I know it's you!"

Suspect 5 said "I yelled back, 'Hell, no, it ain't me!' That was kind of stupid of me wasn't it?" Suspect 5 was 18 and subsequently handled as an adult.

The suspect then told who had the gun now. An officer called the home of the suspects. The youngsters were 15 and 16. They were not at home

Wednesday 6 p.m.

One of the youths returned the officers' call. Based on his agreement an officer was dispatched to Elkelton and Jamacha rds., the place where the two youths were to turn the gun over to the police. They were there and the gun was retrieved. It was the stolen .38 cal. Bernadelli.

Now, all the suspects but one was accounted for. The missing one, (suspect 3) his girlfriend said, had "split". He was somewhere in north California.

The remaining offenders were handed over to juvenile authorities. In time their cases were heard. The 18-year old offender was involved in an armed burglary in which shots had been fired. He was permitted to plead to a misdemeanor instead of felony burglary charge by the district attorney.

Chances are that the juveniles will suffer no penalty greater than attending juvenile court. Some will try burglary again. Why not? The profit is great compared to the possibility of penalty.

Some of the youths are from broken homes. Others have parents who seem not to care — at least care enough to take a positive action of correction.

Courts have taken a rather light view of crime in recent years and probation department works on a sort of commission basis. The more they keep out of jail the more funds become available to the probation department. So probation people negotiate to keep criminals free of incarceration.

Police spend long hours checking out evidence, questioning people and, in many cases, exposing themselves to bodily harm and death.

And they are fighting a losing battle against the growing odds that innocents will suffer at the hands of a repeat criminal.

The feeling grows daily that almost no one but the cops really care about the growing crime situation. When they stop caring, anarchy will rule.

CHRISTMAS GREETINGS with a yard full of holiday spirit has won awards for the John Bertino family at 8852 Olive dr., Spring Valley. They family's yard display has earned numerous awards in Spring Valley's Christmas decoration contest including Sweepstakes in 1970 and 72. This year, the Bertinos placed 2nd in the resident yard category, edged out by A. Calamars of 10338 Fairhill ave. Trophies for these and other winners will be awarded later this month.

Census Probe Taps Local Home Owners

Questions on spending for the improvement and upkeep of residential properties will be asked for a sample of households in the Lemon Grove/Spring Valley area by Bureau of the Census interviewers during the first 15 days of January, C. Michael Long, director of the Bureau's Regional Office announced.

The home improvement survey, conducted four times a year, yields information on this segment of the American economy of interest to many government and private groups. The sample will be among approximately 5,200 included throughout the United States.

Total expenditures for the upkeep and improvement of residential properties in the second quarter of 1975 was $6.5 billion, or $24.1 billions at a seasonally adjusted annual rate. During 1972 the seasonally adjusted annual rate ranged from $19.7 billion to $21.9 billion.

The law requires that information reported to the Bureau of the Census must be held in strictest confidence. Published reports show totals only.

Presidents' Signatures At L.G. S&L

Lemon Grove residents visiting Central Federal Savings and Loan's College Grove office will enter the bicentennial year with the latest U. S. travel guide plus an opportunity to receive Presidential signatures from the nation's beginnings.

Manager Sally DeLong said free copies of the "Rand McNally Road Atlas and Travel Guide" with a bicentennial event calendar will be offered while the supply lasts.

The 96-page compendium of up-to-date full-color maps, mileage charts and easy-to-read details on recreational areas includes a 16-page "along the interstate" section on regional information.

Visitors can also place a claim on a Presidential signature of George Washington, John Quincy Adams or James Monroe.

Winners also receive a letter authenticating the autographs.

Forms are available at all Central Federal offices through January 10, with signature aspirants also able to mail 3" x 5" cards with name, complete address and telephone number to Bicentennial Signatures in care of any Central Federal office.

Winners will be announced by January 15, with names of recipients available on request after that date.

108 Lots Sold in Rancho S.D.

A total of 108 single family lots were purchased by three home developers in Rancho San Diego recently. Dass Construction Co. bought 29 lots in Unit 22 of Rancho San Diego's Sweetwater Village/West, between Knollview dr. and Ledgeside st.

29 units were purchased by Harris Homes, a partnership of S. C. Harris, Inc., and Lisk Enterprises. The lots are at Ledgeview ave. and Knollview dr., across from Hatfield Park, one of Rancho San Diego's two 4-acre recreational parks.

According to Aaron Kolkey, president of Dass, the firm will build on their lots the Cameo Homes design which won the SAM Award of the Sales and Marketing Council of the S.D. Building and Contractors Assn. for the best single family residences under $50,000.

Dass has already built and completely sold out two phases, a total of 64 Cameo Homes in Rancho San Diego.

Harris plans to build 3- and 4-bedroom, 2 to 2½ bath homes in both single level and two-story models at an anticipated price range of $44,500 to $51,000.

Four model homes are expected to be completed by the end of February.

50 More

Ayres — San Diego purchased 50 single family cluster lots at Fieldcrest and Cliffside avenues, Sweetwater Village/West, adjacent to Hansen Park.

Ayres is presently completing 104 homes in Sweetwater Village/West, and plans to build similar 3 bedroom, 2 bath homes on the new lots, making a total of 154 single family homes.

Construction is expected to begin on the new area about March 1, according to Art Ault, Agent for Ayres.

Miguel Drummers win Top Awards in G'mont District Competition

Honors for "Best Cadence" were awarded to the percussion section of Mt. Miguel High School's marching band at a recent Grossmont District Percussion Clinic and competition.

Mt. Miguel also placed first in the three other areas of competition. Brian Chisnell won in Set Competition and in the Advanced Snare category.

Jeff Vierow was the top intermediate snare division winner.

Eight of the nine Grossmont District high school were represented at the competition hosted by Helix High December 17.

Girl Gymnasts to Entertain Seniors

A girls' gymnastic exposition is held Monday for senior citizens in San Diego.

A group of girls ages 10 through 18 under the instruction of Richard Womack of the downtown YWCA has worked several hours perfecting an entertaining show of calisthenics and tumbling, according to Arthur F. Swain, director of San Diego Seniors, a privately run center for senior citizens.

The program begins at 3:30 in the State Room of the San Diego Hotel.

Energy conservation is good business. And no one knows that better than the management of the Town & Country Hotel in Mission Valley.

Since 1973, they've reduced their energy consumption by a whopping 34%.

And they've done it in little ways that make a big difference . . . doing things any business can do. With more effort invested than capital.

Reminding guests to turn off lights, television sets and air conditioners. Training personnel to turn things off. Relamping to lower light levels. Reducing and eliminating exterior lights. Raising air conditioner temperatures in the summer . . . lowering heat in the winter . . . and locking thermostats. Turning off two out of three pool heaters. And monitoring use cycles to spot new conservation opportunities.

For the past five years, we've been helping businesses and industries all over San Diego County cut down on energy waste. The Town & Country Hotel is a good success story. We'd like to help you succeed as well.

Report Details County Unemployment Picture

A report on unemployment in a recent "San Diego Economic Bulletin" documents declines in the number of employed during latter months acounting for an increase from 9.9 to 10.6 percent unemployed in the county.

The Economic Research Bureau, supported jointly by the City of San Diego, the County of San Diego and the San Diego Chamber of Commerce, conducted the study which claims that the jobless rose by 4,800, going from 62,500 in October to 67,300 in November. The major cause was the combination of an expanded labor force during the holiday season and recent layoffs in the manufacturing and utilities sectors, the report said.

Total manufacturing employment decreased by 200 reaching 70,000 in November, according to the report. The decline was due to a drop of 300 workers in the aerospace sector offsetting an increase of 100 workers in non-electrical machinery. Recent layoffs in the utilities sector caused total transportation, communications and utilities employment to fall by 600 to a November level of 21,900, the lowest monthly level since November 1972.

Construction employment declined to 20,500 compared with 20,800 in October and 22,200 a year ago. The 1975 average annual employment level should be approximately 20,300, or the lowest yearly average since 1968, according to the report.

Service industries employment followed seasonal trends and hit 96,800, down by 300 from October. Finance, insurance and real estate employment showed no change holding steady at 24,800. Mining also remained at its usual level of 500 workers.

Seasonal hiring practices helped raise total trade employ to 110,600 compared with 11,100 in the previous month. Boosted by increases in general merchandise and food and liquor employment, retail trade rose by 400 to account for most of the overall increase. Government employment also increased over the month, rising from 126,500 to 1227,00. The primary cause for the increase was continued hiring in the educational sector.

State Unemployment Stable at 10 Per Cent

Unemployment in the state was recorded at 10 per cent in November, unchanged from October, according to Employment Director Martin Glick.

The seasonal slowdown in outdoor work such as agriculture, lumber and construction accounted for most of the work force layoffs during the month which offset an increase from October's level.

Total employment was 8,516,700 in California in November, up 77,300 from an October survey.

Space Theatre Changes Program

"Probes in Space" and "Viva Baja" have been returned for an engagement at the Reuben H. Fleet Space Theater and Science Center in Balboa Park, starting this week.

In "Probes in Space" scientific answers are offered to the age-old mysteries of Venus's swirling cloud layers, Mercury's rock-melting temperature, Mars' wind-swept desert surface, and Jupiter's violent cyclonic atmosphere with lightning bursts capable of vaporizing San Diego.

The 25 degree tilted dome of Space Theater as the screen surface, the Spitz Space Transit Simulator (Starball), and the giant 70mm Omnimax Projector envelop viewer in a film voyage of the Solar System as seen from NASA's Mariner, Pioneer, and Viking space vehicles.

In addition, an Omnimax motion picture, "Viva Baja", celebrates lifestyles and ongoing preservation of the Mexican Peninsula's varied ecology. From the nose of a plane, the fish-eye lens of the Omnimax camera shows isolated diamond beaches and the wonders of Baja California countryside that the most intrepid explorer rarely finds.

In keeping with the current migration of the California gray whale, Viva Baja" has exclusive footage captured at the entrance of Baja's Scammon's Lagoon, traditional breeding ground for the huge mammals — a rare ballet of surfacing, spouting, showing flukes, and breaching. The theatre opens at 1 p.m. Wednesday; earlier on weekend. The theatre phone is 238-1233 ext. 33.

Mrs. Copley Leads '76 Cancer Crusade

Helen K. Copley will serve as 1976 honorary crusade chairman of the San Diego County Unit of the American Cancer Society, it was announced recently.

Mrs. Copley, publisher of The San Diego Union and Evening Tribune, expressed deep concern about the Crusade against cancer and urged continued support for its three-phase impetus of research, education and service.

Goal for the 1976 crusade has been set at $802,500.

'Hot Tin Roof' is Old Globe Fare

"Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" opens Tuesday, at Old Globe Theatre for a five week engagement. The American Bicentennial production of the Tennessee Williams drama is directed by Craig Noel.

Winner of the Pulitzer Prize and New York Drama Critics Award, the play deals with a southern family. The gaiety of a birthday celebration is poisoned by the sins of the past and greedy hopes for the future. During the continuous action, characters are forced to expose vital private truths.

Performances of "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" are scheduled nightly except Monday and matinees through February 8. Due to successful subscription sales this year, limited seating is available. Theatre-goers are advised to make reservations early.
